

September 18, 2013

Tonight Picks: The Philadelphia Collection Kicks Off, The Fringe Festival And Oktoberfest Carry On, Restaurant Week, Art Openings And More

Posted by Kristina Jenkins

Filed in: EVENTS NEWS NIGHTLIFE

f Like 0 t Tweet 11 g+1 0 Pin it 42

It's a gorgeous evening, Philly, and a perfect evening to embrace fall happenings all over town — from fashion events and art openings to live theater and brew-fueled dinners. (Photo by B. Krist for GPTMC)

• Jason Rhoades, Four Roads Opening: In one of the most ambitious exhibitions ever presented by the Institute of Contemporary Art, Jason Rhoades, Four Roads takes over ICA in its entirety, with four installations focusing on four themes prevalent in the life of Rhoades. The show marks the first major American museum exhibition of the work of this little-exhibited, though exceptional artist who died in 2006 at just 41 years old. Tonight, celebrate the exhibition's opening with talk from ICA chief curator Ingrid Schaffner at 6:30 p.m. and a public reception from 8 to 10 p.m.

When: Wednesday, September 18, 6:30 p.m., 8-10 p.m.

Where: Institute of Contemporary Art, 118 S. 36th Street

Cost: Free